Safety Supervision: Making Defensible Decisions at the Front Line

Manufacturing supervisors are the last line before something goes wrong.

On the floor, supervisors manage hazards in real time. They make calls about equipment, workloads, procedures and people — often quickly and under pressure. When incidents happen, those calls are examined in detail.

LEGAL CONTEXT

In RPC Surface Treatment Pty Ltd (2020), prosecution examined the decisions made by supervisors in the lead-up to a serious injury. The absence of documented risk reasoning was a significant factor in the outcome.

Built for manufacturing supervisors and production leads.
